TRACTION CAR HITS MACHINE

Rear Step Strikes Front Wheel of Automobile Driven by Charles Wiley of St. Paul.

NEGLIGENCE OF THE DRIVER

Front Axle and Front Spring of Machine Broken—Wiley Not Hurt in Fall.

Charles Wiley, a St. Paul man, narrowly escaped injury, while his automobile was slightly damaged when it was hit by an Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Company car in that town yesterday. Wiley is a cripple and was unable to jump but he escaped from the wreck unscathed. No blame whatever is attached to the traction crew as it was thought that the car had cleared the machine when the accident happened. It was due to the carelessness of Wiley.

The crew today made a report to Will Frazee, claim agent of the company. According to the report, Wiley was driving his machine parallel with the I. & C. tracks near the lumber yard in St. Paul. The motorman of the car saw Wiley, fortunately for Wiley, and brought his car to almost a complete standstill. The traction car passed the automobile very slowly and, when the motorman thought his car had cleared the machine, the back step of the car struck the right front wheel of the automobile. The machine was going north and had turned east when the accident happened.

The automobile was damaged only slightly. The front wheel and the front spring were broken, but aside from that no damage was done. Wiley was thrown out of the car, but he suffered only a few bruises. Mr. Wiley is a cripple, having lost one of his legs in an accident several years ago. The car was an old runabout and he had purchased it more for the pleasure of being able to drive about the town than for any other reason, as the car was not in shape for any strenuous service.

The traction car was in charge of Sam Warfel, motorman, and E. O. Arbuckle, conductor, of this city.

GOSNELL FINISHES SECOND

Opening Day of Races at Bradford, Pennsylvania.

Celia W., driven by Curt Gosnell took second money in the 2:18 pace yesterday at the opening day of the Lake Erie circuit at Bradford, Pa. The race was won by Little Mary, driven by Jamison, the best time being 2:16 1/4. This is the second race this year for Celia W., the mare taking third money at Erie last week.

ARM WAS BROKEN IN FALL

George Taggart of Manilla Injured
While Threshing.

George Taggart of Manilla suffered a broken right arm yesterday in a fall from a separator. Taggart was employed on a threshing outfit and in some manner slipped and fell from the separator, fracturing his arm below the elbow. The accident occurred on the Jasper Hester farm, west of Manilla. Drs. Barnum and Barnum attended the injured man.

CLOSE CALL FROM DEATH

Herbert Reynolds of Straughn Drove on Railroad Track.

Herbert Reynolds of Straughn, a cousin of Frank Reynolds of this city, narrowly escaped death there Sunday by a Pennsylvania train. He was driving a horse to a cart and as he drove onto the crossing the animal was struck by a passenger train, whose approach he had not heard. Reynolds saved himself by falling backward out of the cart.

GATHER ROASTING EARS FROM FIELD

Farmers Say it is the First Time in Years Corn Has Been so Far Developed.

WARM WEATHER NEEDED NOW

Farmers are gathering roasting ears from their corn fields which is without precedent in Rush county for many years. A well known farmer said this morning that he could not remember the time that ears as large as the ones he gathered from his farm today had been found in the corn fields in Rush county before August first. The deduction is that the corn crop is much earlier than it has been for years, or perhaps than it ever was before. It is thought that the crop will be ready for gathering much earlier than common.

The crop promises to be a splendid one this year. Weather conditions have been almost ideal which accounts for the earliness as well as the advanced stage of the corn at this time. Farmers say that, with all of the rain that has fallen here in the last few days, a little warm weather would make the corn grow much more and would insure an even much better crop than that which is promised now.

THIEF STEALS $81 FROM HORSEMAN

Robber Enters Stall at Riverside Park and Takes Money From Frank Lindsay.

REPORTS LOSS TO THE POLICE

Frank Lindsay, a local horseman, had $81 stolen from his clothes at Riverside park yesterday. The loss was reported to the police, but as yet no clue to the guilty party has been found. The money was in a pocket-book and was left in a stall at the park while Lindsay was working out his horses. When he came in from the track to change clothes he found the purse missing. The money was in ten and twenty dollar bills and the police are keeping a close watch, with the expectation of finding the thief. Mr. Lindsay did not report his loss until last night as he was busy shipping to North Vernon. The police say that they might have been successful if the robbery was reported sooner.

TWO NEAR TRAGEDIES.

Shelbyville Republican: Two narrow escapes were made on last Friday and Saturday, one by Pinkham J. Jefferson, and another by Elmer Roberts, both residents of Brandywine township, from being injured and perhaps killed by cars on the Indianapolis & Cincinnati traction line.

VISIT QUAINTEST AMERICAN HOUSE

Editors Are Guests of Quebec Newspaper Men While on Annual Outing.

J. FEUDNER ENJOYING TRIP

Scribes Take Ride Down St. Law-ence River to Quebec on the Ocean Steamer Laurentic.

J. Feudner, who is on the outing which the members of the National Editorial Association is taking in Canada, writes that the visiting editors from all parts of the United States are enjoying the best trip which was ever arranged for the annual convention. He writes that the editors were taken by special train as the guests of Quebec newspaper men, all of whom are French, on Monday to St. Ann's church, the Falls of Montmorency and Kent House, which he describes as the quaintest place in America.

The scribes spent Saturday evening and Sunday in Quebec, leaving there Sunday evening and arriving in Montreal Monday morning. A part of their trip is described in the following clipping from the Montreal Gazette, which was mailed by Mr. Feudner:

On Saturday the visiting members of the National Editorial Association were guests of the White Star line on a trip down the river to Quebec on the company's fine steamer Laurentic. The Laurentic left at nine o'clock, the party gathering on the boat dock, from which a magnificent view was had of the harbor, and the development work now in progress, the magnitude of which astonished many of the delegates, who, while most of them come from inland towns, gave evidence that they knew more or less about the big ports of the United States. Once clear of the harbor, Mr. Percy Mitchell, of the White Star line, who had the arrangements in charge, briefly introduced Mr. James Thom, the local manager of the line, who welcomed the delegates and expressed the pleasure it gave him in being able to show them what the White Star, which they knew so well in connection with ports in their own country, was now doing towards the development of the great St. Lawrence route. The features of this he left to Mr. G. W. Stephens, chairman of the Montreal Harbor Commission, which accompanied the party. Not only did Mr. Stephens do this, but he also took advantage of the occasion to point out that Canadians were proud of their country and were intent on working out its great future with no thought of annexation. Mr. J. P. Baumgartner, of the Register, Santa Ana, Calif., retiring president of the association, responded gracefully, after which the party made an inspection of the ship, its size, the luxury, tastefulness, comfort and adequacy of the appointments of the great vessel evoking much admiration. Just above Sorel the White Star liner Teutonic was met coming up the river, inward bound from Liverpool. The passing of these two great vessels, the Teutonic, only a few years ago the finest and fastest ship afloat, and the Laurentic, the biggest ship coming up the St. Lawrence, was a pretty sight, and the ease with which it was done did much to impress the party with the developed capacity of the route.

"DICKENS MAN" WILL BE POPULAR

William Sterling Battis, Saturday Evening Entertainer at Chautauqua, Will Appeal to Audience.

MAKES UP IN VIEW OF CROWD

Portrays Famous Author's Characters in Realistic Manner so They Live as in His Novels.

Doubtless no number on the whole chautauqua program will be more popular with the general public and will be more likely to please a cosmopolitan audience than will be the entertainment which will be given by William Sterling Battis, the "Dickens Man." He is known by that name because he impersonates Dickens' characters with such accuracy and in a manner that is realistic. His portrayals of the famous author's people are life-like as are the characters. There are very few people who are not acquainted with such fantastic personages in Dickens' novels as Bill Sikes, Nicholas Nickleby and Oliver Twist.

The characters of Charles Dickens have never been more than half real to many Americans. They are so different and their environments are so strange that in some senses this author is the most difficult to read. Mr. Battis is so thoroughly acquainted with Dickens and Dickens' people that he can introduce them to others in such a manner one can never forget them. No other entertainer or rather interpreter of the world today gives Dickens and Dickens only. There are no characters in fiction or drama more hard to portray; yet none more interesting and real when properly portrayed. It is a marvelous thing to so completely lose oneself in thirteen different characters that one's own friends cannot detect even traces of the original; yet this is exactly what Mr. Battis does. It is equal to a liberal Dickens education to hear him.

A very interesting part of Mr. Battis' work in "Life Portrayals" is the making-up in full view of the audience. The characters grow upon one—develop as an artist develops a picture. Mr. Battis is an adept at the art of make-up. There is no one in the Lyceum quite so expert as Mr. Battis in this particular. He does not merely suggest the character by the application of a little face powder, and the adjustment of a wig, but gives the character complete in every detail, yet with marvelous rapidity. Facing his audience, behind a dressing table upon which is a large plate glass mirror surrounded by a row of 40 candle power lights, he commences his work.

A little cold cream, followed by a coating of grease paint; a dark line from the corner of the eye, a similar one from the corners of the mouth, and a short one down the sides of the nose; a little dash of red on the tip of the nose, an upward stroke of black and the eyebrows are lifted; a dash of powder over the whole; the adjustment of the wig, and "Pecksniff" walks out from behind a screen with all his self-satisfied, hypocritical air, and delivers a moral precept. This transformation has consumed about two minutes time, a little darker paint and a sun burnt appearance is given to the face; a few strokes and a bushy eyebrow appears; a little darker red widens the nose; a few touches of maroon wrinkles the face; a shirt front with the collar and tie attached is sprung into place, a wig follows; then the coat and hat, a cane, and old "Cap'n Cuttle" in his wide suit of blue, and collar "like a small sail" ambles out and delivers a monologue closing with "Waller, my lad, train up a fig tree in the way it should go, and when you are old, sit under the shade of it."

A few strokes of black, and the eyebrows are joined, a little dab of paint under the eyes, it looks sunken and fierce; some dark on the chin and upper lip and there is shown several days' growth of beard; a black wig, a cudgel and out walks "Bill Sikes" the brutal thief and house-breaker and tells how the education of boys is ruining the burglar business.

PERKINS WILL NOT BE ON THE FORCE

"Queered" Himself With the Mayor and Council by Having Big All-Day Celebration.

WILL NAME ANOTHER MAN

George Perkins, who was appointed a policeman by the city council on Monday night, will not get the job and the council will have to make another selection. Perkins was highly recommended to the council, but his actions of yesterday showed that he did not come up to the recommendations and as a result, Perkins will not be on the force. He was to have gone on duty last night at 7 o'clock, but from all reports was not able to do so because he had visited a thirst emporium at frequent intervals during the day. It is said that he was celebrating the getting of a new position, but the mayor and the police committee failed to see the joke and Perkins was not made a member of the police force. Another new policeman will probably be appointed by the council Tuesday night.

State Board of Charities Shows Cost of Maintaining Institutions in This Vicinity.

THE PER CAPITA COST VARIES

The eighty-fifth quarterly exhibit of the expenditures by the State for charitable, educational and correctional institutions for the six months ending March 31, 1911, as reported in the bulletin of the board of State charities issued Monday, shows a total of $1,194,822.11. The daily average number of inmates at the institution under the above classification during the same period was 10,736.54. The per capita cost of maintenance was varied among the different institutions.

All of the per capita calculations are based on the ordinary expenses, excluding new buildings and permanent improvements, and daily average attendance. The per capita cost at the Epileptic Village in Henry county is $66.16; at the Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' Home, $51.57, and at the insane hospital at Richmond, $28.12.

The average cost of each day's board furnished the inmates and officers in the Epileptic Village is $86; in the orphans' home at Knightstown, $187; and in the Richmond insane hospital, $149.

A Sunday school picnic, under the auspices of the Manilla M. E. Sunday school, will be held in the Gahimer park three miles south of Manilla on Thursday, August 6. The members of all of the Manilla Sunday schools are invited.

HAD REASON FOR NOT RETURNING

Daniel Lingo Has Aversion For Shelbyville as There Are Rumors of Another Charge.

PAYS FINE HERE HE SKIPPED

Petit Larceny Might be Brought Against Him For Theft of Brass There.

Dan Lingo is not in the Shelby county jail here, nor will he be providing he remains away from the city, says the Shelbyville Democrat. It was thought yesterday that Dan would be holding down one of the cots at the local bastille today, but when he learned at Rushville that he must either settle an old fine and costs here for assault and battery or come over and remain for ten days the guest of Sheriff James Moore, he coughed up the cash so there would be no need for him to make the trip on that account.

Dan has somewhat of an aversion to Shelbyville at the present time and he does not intend to come back unless forced to do so. A petit larceny charge is pending against him here for the theft of some brass from the Thomas Sweeny company, and Dan is well aware of this fact. He also has good reason to think that if the case is ever put to test he will land in prison, for his record in this city is not a bright one by any means.

The fine and costs he owed here was on account of a fight he had here with his former employer, Isaac Sax, and it was through some detective work on the part of Isaac that the evidence piled up against him in the brass stealing incident. The stolen brass is still held at police headquarters so that it may be used as evidence against Dan when the time is ripe. That will be whenever he decides he can not longer remain away from Shelbyville.

He has been gone from here several months and the local officers had lost track of him till a few days ago when they saw by the Rushville papers that he was being held in the jail there on a charge of assault and battery. Chief of Police Manlove immediately got busy and arrangements were being made to bring Dan to this city when he handed over the cash that made the trip unnecessary.

CROWD UP TO THE STANDARD TODAY

"Big Wednesday" Attracts Many People Despite Threatening
Clouds in the Sky.

BAND CONCERT THIS EVENING

The "Big Wednesday" crowd was up to the standard today despite the fact that threatening clouds hung in the skies all day. Many people took advantage of the bargains offered by the Rushville merchants and reports from many stores this afternoon were to the effect that the sales for today were exceedingly heavy.

The three moving picture shows played to capacity houses all afternoon. There were many people who took advantage of the free shows this morning. The Rushville city band gave a concert this morning and this afternoon on the court house lawn at the corner of Main and Second streets. A concert will be given at the same place this evening.

Editor of Chicago Tribune Tells How He Was "Stung."

GOING AFTER LORIMER STORY

Tale Brought to the Tribune by George O. Glavis Purporting to Deal With a Set of Lobbyist's Books Which Promised Interesting Evidence Ends in the Editor Buying a Gold Brick, According to His Story.

Washington, July 26.—James Keeley, general manager and editor of the Chicago Tribune, told the members of the senate committee investigating the election of Senator Lorimer of Illinois, that the Tribune had been "defended" out of $750 by George O. Glavis, a brother of Louis R. Glavis, formerly field agent of the general land office at Seattle, Wash., and one of the principals in the Ballinger-Pinchot row.

Mr. Keeley said that Glavis came to him and told him he thought he could purchase the books of a firm of lobbyists which, Glavis said, would show that Senator Lorimer while a member of the house of representatives, received 25 per cent of a $2,000 fee for his services before the postoffice department in obtaining the privilege of the second-class postal rates for the Fireproof Magazine, a Chicago publication. Glavis also told Mr. Keeley, the latter said, that former Representative J. A. Tawney of Minnesota also was mixed up in the transaction.

Mr. Keeley said he advanced Glavis $100 to pay the expenses of locating the documents. Later, Mr. Keeley testified, Glavis informed him he had purchased them for the Tribune, and the sum of $650 was then paid to Mr. Glavis. But when Mr. Keeley demanded the papers he could not get them, and he then swore out a warrant for Glavis' arrest for embezzlement. Glavis was arrested in Chicago and brought to Washington for trial.

"When Glavis came to me," said Mr. Keeley, "I questioned him about the existence of these documents. He said that he had known that they were in existence about a year, and he thought he could locate them. He said he could get them from the wife of one of the former members of the firm who suffered from tuberculosis and had gone west for his health. I told him to buy them and gave him $100 to pay the expenses of his trip from Chicago to Washington. Later he reported he had made the purchase and had turned the papers over to his brother, Ed Glavis, for indexing. I had a talk with Ed Glavis, who said he had not received any papers from his brother George and did not know anything about it. Later Glavis offered to return the money the Tribune had advanced him if we would agree not to arrest him."

Mr. Keeley's story of how the Tribune had been stung was amusing to the members of the committee.

Harmony the Watchword. Fremont, Neb., July 25.—The Democratic state convention was a very tame affair in contrast with the advance notices. It was controlled from beginning to end by a combination of leaders who had decided that harmony should prevail. Bryan's name did not appear in the resolutions, nor was there condemnation of any party leader.

Indianapolis, July 26.—T. E. Halls of the United States secret service has returned to this city from Kentucky, where, with United States Deputy Marshal Charles Nichols of Owensboro, Ky., he arrested Jesse Schroeter on a houseboat at Hartford, Ky., on the charge of counterfeiting. Schroeter's cousin, Clifton Schroeter, and Odie Simpson had been arrested by the police at Henderson, Ky., on suspicion of having passed some counterfeit bills. Simpson's home was at Graham, Ky., but the two Schroeters had been living on the houseboat on the Green and Rough rivers. The three are now in jail at Owensboro, where they were committed to await the action of the federal grand jury, as they were unable to furnish the necessary $1,000 bond.

When the houseboat was searched by Mr. Halls some negatives of bills were found, and it is said that the counterfeiting was done by making photographic prints from these negatives. The photographs, on an exceptionally good quality of paper, were then trimmed and bore a fair resemblance to genuine bills. The method followed was unusual.

KIDNAPPING TALE

Told by New York Show Girl Upon Her Reappearance.

New York, July 26.—Lillian Graham of the singing and dancing team of Graham and Conrad, that won an engagement at Hammerstein's by shooting W. E. D. Stokes in the legs and who dropped out of sight last Saturday night just when the show needed a little advertising, was found last evening at Poughkeepsie in the Morgan House. After inquiring if any reporters were snooping around, Miss Graham told Chief of Police Charles McCabe that she had been kidnapped and that her dreadful experience had left her so bewildered and upset that she did not think about coming back to New York or telegraphing her friends.

EUROPE ENJOYS A WAR FLURRY

Gravest Possible Turn Hinted at Over Morocco.

THREE BIG NATIONS INVOLVED

Germany, France and England Are All Agitated Over the International Twist That Has Been Given Affairs With Regard to the Moors, and the Most Alarming Rumors Are Flying Thick and Fast.

London, July 26.—There is a supposition that the international situation with regard to Morocco has become more seriously acute than ever, and has even taken the gravest possible turn. Such a view is at least premature and is possibly altogether erroneous. The supposition is apparently to be attributed to official silence in London, Paris and Berlin, added to such rumors that the kaiser is shortening his holiday cruise; that Germany is calling out 400,000 reserves; newspaper statements in Paris; the facts that the king has given an audience to Sir Edward Grey, the secretary for foreign affairs; that Sir Francis Bertie, the British ambassador at Paris, has come to London; that M. Paul Cambon, the French ambassador, has had a long conference with Sir Edward Grey, and that Prime Minister Asquith and Mr. Lloyd George, the chancellor of the exchequer, jointly visited the foreign office and conferred with Sir Edward Grey and Sir Francis Bertie.

All of these incidents, however, may be comparatively commonplace in their interpretation and none is necessarily alarming. There is uneasiness on the stock exchange and on the continental bourses. In the case of Berlin, however, the depression was made somewhat less at the close by the report that a satisfactory statement would shortly be issued by Von Kiderlin-Wachter, the German foreign minister.

Mr. Balfour, the leader of the opposition, asked Premier Asquith in the house of commons if it were suitable to make a statement with regard to foreign affairs. Mr. Asquith replied that should there be anything for him to say he would announce it on Thursday. One of the tangible expressions in regard to the seriousness of the situation comes from the London Graphic's Berlin correspondent. It is to the effect that there is a deadlock in the negotiations and that Germany stiffly refuses to modify her demands in the Congo region on the ground that Lloyd George's speech constitutes a threat and German opinion will never tolerate concessions apparently extorted by pressure.

Von Kiderlin-Wachter has told this to the French ambassador, M. Jules Cambon, the correspondent adds.

It is said that a large amount of insurance against war with Germany has been taken out with Lloyds. The policies run for three months and the charge, which was at first £3 per cent, rose to 4 per cent and finally to 5 guineas per cent.

A Mine Paymaster Stood Off Four Would-Be Highwaymen.

Wheeling, July 26.—William H. Werker, former president of the Fifth district Ohio Mine Workers of America, now paymaster for the Glens Run Coal company, was held up by four men a few miles north of Martins Ferry, O., while on his way to Rush Run to pay off the miners at that place. Werker carried $5,000 in cash. In a pistol duel which followed the attempted holdup, Werker was shot, but the wound is not serious. The four robbers escaped empty handed.

Marshal Guilty of Murder. Huntington, W. Va., July 26.—Deputy United States Marshal John Waldron was found guilty at Welch of murder in the second degree for the killing of Ben Tate and Wade Gillespie in a resort at Keystone. He claimed self-defense.

Lumberman Fatally Cut. Glasgow, Ky., July 26.—Harry and Alfred Pratter, farmers, are under arrest, charged with the probable fatal cutting of A. C. Miles, a lumberman, of Glasgow Junction.

SOCIETY NEWS

A small informal dance in the Modern Woodmen hall given by Rushville young women, even though this is not leap year, was attended by many young people last evening. The affair was a very enjoyable one. Colored musicians from Indianapolis played. The guests from a distance were Francis Moor, Roy Williams, and Albert Bristor of Indianapolis; Walter Newhouse of Chicago; the Misses Pauline Coverston and Lucile Starbuck of Goshen, and Calhoun Florian of Texas.

A very pleasant family gathering met Sunday at the home here of Dayton Hungerford and wife when a dozen relatives were entertained at a sumptuous dinner, says the Milroy Press. The occasion was in honor of her mother, Mrs. Alfred Peck of Orange township, whose brother, Richard Collier and wife and sister, Miss Celia Collins of Silome Springs, Ark., and niece, Salona Stoner of West Grove, Ia., were here on a visit. There were also present Mrs. Peck's son, Sam and wife of Indianapolis, Ad Richey and wife and son Alfred and family of Orange township.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have the usual change of program tonight showing as the first film a Kasmie drama, "Paganini and the Countess Beatrice." The other picture is a feature drama, "The Lucky Card." This one is a sensational drama taken from the life on the plains.

The Portola will have two Selig films tonight. "Won and Lost" is said to be a story of the oil fields, showing the life and workings of the people in an oil region. Besides being educational, a very pathetic story is told. The other film is entitled "One of Nature's Noblemen." It is a western drama and is true to life.

Besides the regular program of two reels of pictures the Vaudet will offer beginning tonight and continuing the rest of the week, Kennedy and Udell in Vaudeville. The sketch tonight is entitled "The Rube" and in this they are seen at their best. Both of the vaudeville artists have been here before and never fail to please. The first picture, "The Convert" is an Imp drama and the other is a Bison entitled "A Tale of the Foothills."

DEATH COMES TO MRS. JAMES HILL

Aged Resident of Manila Succumbs in This City While on a Visit.

SURVIVED BY TWO DAUGHTERS

Mrs. Eleanor J. Hill, 73 years old, widow of the late James Hill, died this morning about 2:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. L. Champion in North Arthur street. Mrs. Hill had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Emory Mahan in Manila, and while here on a visit, contracted pneumonia, which proved fatal. She had only been ill a few days. Mrs. Hill is survived by her two daughters, Mrs. Champion and Mrs. Mahan.

Short services were held this afternoon and the remains will be taken to Manila, where the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon. Burial will take place in the Manila cemetery.

TROUGHTHORSE WAS STOLEN

Had Only Broken Loose From the Hitch-Rack.

A horse and buggy belonging to Charles Kennedy of near New Salem was left at the hitch-rack yesterday afternoon and when the two daughters of Mr. Kennedy, who had driven to this city went back for the rig it was gone. Chief of Police McAllister was called to investigate the alleged stealing and found the outfit at the Davis barn. The horse had broken loose and was caught by the men at the stable who were keeping it for the owner.

Hancock County Man Files Suit Against Traction Company

Fred W. Claffer has filed suit against Charles L. Henry, receiver for $15,000 damages for personal injuries and loss of property, says the Greenfield Reporter. He alleges that on September 21, 1910, at 7:30 p. m. as he was crossing the tracks of the defendant company, where the same intersects the Brookville road, a car owned by the company was run upon and over his rig, killing the horse, demolishing the wagon and seriously injuring him. He alleges that one of his legs was so seriously broken that it had to be amputated.

Shore birds are scarcer than ever
this year. There are too many sure shots.

The Chicago police warn women not to be on the streets alone at night. Evidently the men are too timid to need that warning.

The New York shoe dealers say women's feet are bigger than formerly. The Chicago girl can wear short skirts at last.

Bull frogs are being taken to Ja-

The postal department has been asked to have rural carriers blow bugles as a signal of their approach.
The carriers could probably perform better on an old fashioned fish horn.

The Kansas City probation officer says he knows of no red haired peo-

should they, when everyone gives them whatever they ask for in order to secure a quiet life?

Sunday drowning accidents keep right on. It takes only about three feet of water for the human animal to swim in, but he isn't really happy with less than thirty.

The propriety of wearing detachable cuffs is again discussed. Many men whose cuffs are rubbing all over an inky desk all day will always feel they must wear the same things that suit the fellow in the club easy chair.

the magazine circulations would drop
if they discharged their muck rakers and printed a few articles about honest men.

For every dollar the yellow news-

WILL SEND OUT A WARNING

Lines are being drawn for a battle between the Indiana board of medical registration and examination and the exponents of a system of healing known as chiropractic. Chiropractors only recently began to invade Indiana and complaints have reached the board that many of them are practicing their profession, especially in the northern part of the State.
As a preliminary step toward expellling them, Dr. W. T. Gott, secretary of the board, will mail each chiropractor a letter explaining that under the law he can not be permitted to practice in Indiana. Should the hint be ignored, they will be prosecuted in the courts for practicing medicine without a license. There are indications that the chiropractors have no intention of submitting without a struggle. Their national organization has retained lawyers and will bear all the expense of fighting the cases through the courts.

SAYS RATS ARE GERM CARRIERS

Dr. J. N. Hurty Refers to Rodents And Not Those Women Wear in Their Hair.

SEES EXPERIMENT IN WEST

Health Officials Believe That Common Pests May Transmit Disease-Bubonic Plague.

That infection from rats may develop into one of the most serious questions in the state within a few years is the assertion of Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the State Board of Health, who returned yesterday from an extended trip through the Pacific coast states. Dr Hurty's assertion was inspired by visits to laboratories of the marble hospital service at San Francisco.

In these laboratories the rat problem of the coast is being thrashed out, according to the state health officer. More than ten tons of rodents have been examined by health officers in the fight to stamp out the bubonic plague on the coast.

Today few of the rats examined show signs of the dreadful infection. Among the last 200,000 rats examined none has shown plague germs. But the squirrels examined at the laboratories still show signs of the scourge, according to Dr. Hurty. Several squirrels were examined while Dr. Hurty was in the laboratories, and some of them were found to be infected.

The examination of thousands of rodents has shown other things as fully important to the American public and to citizens of Indiana as the eradication of the plague, according to Dr. Hurty. The rodents show virulent symptoms of liver trouble, tuberculosis, kidney trouble cancer and tumors. Here is where the Indiana rat comes into the question, said Dr. Hurty.

The little animal of the Hoosier state are just as full of disease as the Western rats, he believes. The question which the country must solve within the next few years, he said, is whether human beings of America are contracting these dreaded diseases from rats.

One of Dr. Hurty's assistants cited the case of some squirrels at Goshen, Ind. The squirrels were kept in confinement to tame them for park purposes. Suddenly one of them became ill. Then the whole tribe followed and began to attack everything which came near them. Eventually public sentiment became so strong against the animals that their owners killed all of them. None of them was sent to the Board of Health for examination.

Every new building being constructed in San Francisco today is rat proof, according to Dr. Hurty. Rat catchers are busy throughout the city at all hours of the day and night.

"They've learned their lesson out there," said Dr. Hurty, "and we of Indiana will be compelled to learn the same lesson some day if things go on as they have. The rats in this state are as full of disease as those on the coast. The community that does not fight rats is neglecting one of the means at its command to fight disease."

Dr. Hurty was much pleased with the sanitary conditions of the Pacific coast states in general. He believes that the new city of San Francisco, since it has been rejuvenated, following the disaster of the earthquake, is the most hygienic city in the world. The Indiana health officer made an address on public health at San Francisco.

He made eight public addresses during his trip. He was the guest of the Oregon State Medical Society at Portland, Ore., and spoke to the members. Two other addresses were given in Portland. Three addresses were delivered at Los Angeles, Cal., and one at Minneapolis, on the return trip.

WINONA LAKE IS AN IDEAL CITY

Is Place of Winter Residence for Many Families.

MAINTAINS TWO COLLEGES

Has All the Conveniences of Most Modern Cities, Including Stores, Trolley, Etc.

There always has been a great deal of misunderstanding as to just what Winona Lake is, why it is, and how it came to be what it is. To some it is a money-making institution, and these are mistaken. To some it is a place simply and only where people meet during the hot months and hear good music, good lectures and see gay spectacles presented on the lake by persons who are artists with colors and lights; and these again are in error. To some Winona Lake is a place designed to feed the mind and build up the body of each individual that attends; and in a measure this is true, though it lacks much of being all that might be said.

There is only one Winona Lake. The chances are that if you would address your friend Mr. John Jones at Winona Lake, without giving the name of the state, Mr. John Jones would get your letter. In the literal sense there is only one Winona Lake, and in the broader sense Winona Lake is unique.

Winona has a Bible conference, the greatest in the world. There are other Bible conferences, but Winona is unique in that its Bible conference is a part of a great year-around program of events. Bible conferences live a few days in most places. At Winona the Bible conference and its influence, and the influence of true Christianity lives through the whole year. The ultimate purposes of Winona assembly officers is to foster true Christianity.

Next to that comes the school influence. Winona Lake has two colleges and an academy. There is Winona college and Winona college of agriculture. There also is Winona academy. Common schools, under the direction of the usual school authorities, also are found at Winona, just as in any city or town. Winona Lake is a place of winter residence. It is a community with post office, grocery, drug store, hotels, restaurants, laundry, telephones, light plant, dairy, federated church and Sunday school and all the institutions that go to make up modern cities. In it, however, there is nothing but what is physically, mentally and spiritually wholesome. Just as far as is possible Winona Lake is made ideal.

Each summer from early July to August, lasting about six weeks, it gives what has come to be famous as the Winona assembly program. This program is given for much less than it could be given anywhere else. The best lecturers, musicians, scientists, humorists and entertainers take part in this program. The best organizations on the platform appear at Winona.

Each year there are special conferences and conventions at Winona Lake. As time passes it is becoming recognized as the best place in the middle west for such gatherings, because it has the best of railroad facilities, both trolley and steam. Located at its very gates are the stations of the main line of the Pennsylvania and the Warsaw and Winona division of the Winona trolley lines. Near and connected with it is Warsaw, which has the Big Four railroad, so that from all directions Winona Lake is connected with the world's great railroads.

The lake at Winona, two miles wide and three miles long, is one of its chief attractions. For boating, fishing and bathing it is ideal, while the prevailing westerly winds pass over it before reaching Winona, insuring the coolest of summer resorts.

Winona is sixteen years old. It has grown and its influence has spread. But it has not made, nor was it intended that it should make, money for itself. It is supported largely by the gifts of those persons who see in it and its purposes something that is worthy of their labor.

Bible Conference.

The post season at Winona Lake this year will include a ten-day meeting that is unique in the whole world—the Bible conference.

The assembly season opened July 2 and will close with August 19. The Bible conference will open August 20 and last for ten days.

The Bible conference at Winona Lake attracts great crowds each year. The strongest men in all denominations speak at the auditorium during these conferences. Men attend from England; evangelists return from abroad, and the religious world gives its attention to the greatest of all conferences of the kind.

This year E. O. Excell will lead the music. Among the speakers will be such men as G. A. Johnston Ross, D. D., of Bryn Mawr, formerly of London. W. E. Biederwolf will be president. W. A. (Billy) Sunday will give addresses. This is only a very small part of a very long list of world-known names.

BIG GAIN SHOWN IN WOOD PRICES

Replies to Circular Letters Issued by State Board of Forestry Are Very Surprising.

SOME WOODS ARE CHEAPER

Other Indiana Timber Has Advanced 150 Per Cent. in Thirty Years, Answers Say.

In reply to circular letters issued by the State Board of Forestry to manufacturing concerns throughout the State, Chief Forester Charles C. Deam has received about 700 answers, inclosing information concerning Indiana woods and their relative values now and ten, twenty and thirty years ago. In some cases the replies show that the price of wood in various localities has increased from 50 per cent to 150 per cent in thirty years. In others it is found that certain woods are much cheaper now than they were a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. Deam was surprised by answers showing that Indiana apple trees are not alone valuable for their fruit. In some parts of the State apple wood, used for ax handles and other implements, brings $100 per 1,000 feet, while mahogany brings but from $60 to $100 per 1,000 feet in the same places. An Indianapolis firm reported buying apple wood at the price quoted.

A North Manchester manufacturer reported that the oak used in his vicinity is costing much less than ten years ago, principally because of the lower quality of the wood. In one part of the state white oak, it was reported, is more than three and one-half times as valuable as it was twenty years ago.

Oak, hickory and maple are quoted in many of the reports at from 33 1-3 per cent to 150 per cent higher in cost at mills than they were thirty years ago. One manufacturer asserts that the prices of beech, hard maple, walnut, apple, poplar, cottonwood and hickory timber in his part of the state have risen 33 1-3 per cent in ten years, 40 per cent in twenty years and 50 per cent in thirty years.

Replies received by Mr. Deam from manufacturers as to the percentage of Indiana lumber used in their various establishments show that from none to 70 per cent of the lumber used is grown in Indiana forests at present. Much of the wood is shipped from Southern states. Prices on various woods used in the making of coffins and considered much higher than those of thirty years ago were quoted on Indiana pine, basswood, chestnut, poplar, gum and white oak.

CANCER IS GERM DISEASE.

That cancer is a germ disease and not due to other causes, is the claim of Dr. Frank F. Smith, chief pathologist of the bureau of plant industry of the department of interior.

For seven years Dr. Smith has held to his theory, and now he has proved that plant cancers or tumors are due to germs, and he claims that there is not the slightest doubt but that human cancers are due to the same cause. "Physicians," said Dr. Smith, "claim that cancer is not a germ disease, simply because they have never been able to find the germ, but I have proved conclusively that plant tumors—which are nothing more than cancers in the site, despite the fact that I have never seen nor found the organism. But by thousands of experiments and years of patient work, I have found that it is so and everyone who has studied the vegetable and animal world knows what a similarity there is between the plant tumor and the human cancer. Therefore, having proven the one to be due to a germ, I cannot see that there is the shadow of a doubt but that the other is also."

Four Spans to Be Taken Out Venetian Night.

IS CLIMAX OF SPECTACLES

Plans Begun Months Ahead for Annual Water Carnival Scheduled for August 9 at Winona Lake.

By the plans that have been made this year, Winona Lake's Venetian night will far surpass the events of this sort given at other times. This year, instead of beginning plans for Venetian night about a month ahead of time, the work on this evening's entertainment was begun June 1. By August 9, the date set for this event, these plans not only will be entirely completed, but the men under the direction of Capt. Frank B. Pine will have each detail in exact working order. Venetian night this year promises more than it has in many years past.

Four bridges will be taken out of the canal to make this feature of the year's program a possibility. All of this has been arranged. The bridges in question span the canal at the crossing points between the mainland and McDonald island. Some of the floats will be so large that it will be impossible to get them under these bridges and, instead of making the floats smaller, the plan is to take out the bridges themselves.

For years Venetian night has been one of the strongest features of the program. It is given each August under the direction of Capt. Frank B. Pine, builder of the annual Mobile Mardi Gras, and Mrs. Spinning of Chicago. Mrs. Spinning again will be chairman of the committee on arrangements.

As many as 15,000 persons have viewed the water parade on Venetian night, and in anticipation of a large crowd again this year, seats have been provided for 15,000. These will be placed along the canal bank and the stadium, and electrical displays, surpassing those of last year and 1909, will be used.

On June 1, Captain Pine began his Venetian night building in connection with his work on the Mardi Gras, billed for last June 16. Having the workmen at his shops and the details already worked out, he had them fill in odd time by preparing material and the outlines of floats for Venetian night. At the time of building the Fourth of July spectacle the same was true, the workmen giving spare time to the Venetian night material. This method made the preparations for this year's Venetian night practically a season's task, and the result is better material.

WINONA A GENUINE CITY.

Has All the Conveniences Found in Any Other Community.

When snow comes to a city of unusual size, the city street force gets out snow plows and plows the snow away. There is nothing startling in that statement, and yet a man the other day at Winona Lake asked: "When it snows here in the winter, what do you do?" And the answer came: "We get out the snow plows and have the snow plowed away in time for the children to get to school." There are many peculiar ideas about Winona Lake, Ind., but the fact is that it is just like any city—excepting that it is the most moral community it is possible to build, and that it has for its aim the uplifting of those who come to it. It has postoffice, ice houses, grocery, good streets, cement sidewalks, an abundance of and variety of good spring water, two colleges and an academy, and the common schools within easy walking distance of any part of the community. It is becoming more and more a place of winter residence.

PROGRAM IS VARIOUS.

Cartoonists, Musicians, Lecturers and Entertainers Are Contracted.

Winona Lake this year has one of the strongest programs it ever has offered the public. There is not an idle hour of any day of the assembly season, and there is not a day when the average American cannot find something to his own individual liking. The fact is that the builders of the assembly program have tried to follow out the instructions of a famous author who said that the secret of success is to be "infinitely various." Winona's program this year offers the greatest variety of entertainment and instruction that the public ever has had the opportunity to see and hear.

Give Model Program.

Closing the post season at Winona Lake this year is the International Lyceum association's convention, opening August 31 and continuing to September 3. At each annual convention the International Lyceum association gives a model ten-day chautauqua program in which members of the association take part and to which the outsider may come with the assurance that he will have a royal entertainment.

WOULD AVERT FOREST FIRES

Charles C. Deam, State Forester, Starts Campaign Against Ravages of Blazes in Indiana.

PROPOSES NEW STATE LAW

Declares Cigar Stubs And Not Sparks Cause Most Conflagrations Along Railroads.

A campaign has been started by State Forester Charles C. Deam against the ravages of forest fires in Indiana. Mr. Deam estimates that during dry years, such as the present, at least 5,000 acres of Indiana woodland are damaged heavily by fires, many of which are started along the right of way of the railroads.

Contrary to general opinion, Mr. Deam asserts that sparks from locomotives are not primarily responsible for the majority of the fires that occur. Passengers in the smoking cars of trains, inadvertently throwing lighted stubs of cigars or cigarettes from windows, are perhaps more often responsible for the starting of fires than the engine sparks, the state foresters believe.

The State Board of Forestry has had prepared a large number of cloth bulletins, setting out the Indiana statutes regarding the starting of fires and the penalties attached to such practices. It is proposed to send these broadcast throughout the state, wherever an interested person will agree to post them in prominent places.

In foreign countries, according to Mr. Deam, persons who throw lighted cigar stubs from car windows and thereby cause fires are liable to fines. He will take the question up with railroad authorities of the state and attempt to get estimates on the number of conflagrations which originate in this manner. A bill in the next session of the Grand Assembly may seek to remedy this condition of affairs, according to Mr. Deam.

The state forestry will attempt also an educational campaign along the road supervision of the state. These men, according to laws of the state, are the rural fire wardens of the commonwealth, Mr. Deam says. Whenever a fire starts it is their duty to enlist the aid of deputies and combat the blaze.

Farmers of the state lose thousands of dollars each year through forest fires, according to Mr. Deam. Much of this comes from the burning off of what he terms the "forest floor" of woodlands. The accumulations of years in the woods, consisting of rotted leaves and other fertilizer, is ruined by a sweeping fire, he contends. This loss is additional to the loss caused by the burning of timber.

"If a fire burns a house down, it can be rebuilt," said Mr. Deam, "but if a 10-year-old tree burns down it takes ten years to replace it."

BRYAN FINE SPEAKER

ANNUALLY DRAWS GREAT CROWDS TO INDIANA RESORT.

Famous Nebraska Orator Is to Give Address Afternoon of August 1.

William Jennings Bryan is one of the most popular lecturers on the program at Winona Lake this year. He will come to Winona Lake for an afternoon lecture August 1, and will give one of his new addresses.

Annually Mr. Bryan is one of the strongest attractions Winona can get, and the audiences to which he speaks are made up of men of all political faiths. As an orator even his enemies admit he is one of the few, and his addresses at Winona draw crowds from all the middle west. As a lecturer he is magnetic and convincing, and he has the power of driving home points without stepping on the political toes of his hearers.

VENETIAN NIGHT IS GREATEST SPECTACLE

It Will Be the Climax of the Series of Water Carnivals at Winona Lake.

Following other lake spectacles that have been presented already this year, the final preparations are being made at Winona Lake for Venetian night, August 9. To this famous spectacular entertainment the people of this country flock annually, and at times 15,000 persons have been on the park grounds to see the splendid water carnival and parade.

It was for this reason that these water events have been so popular in the past that the Winona Lake officials decided this year to make Venetian night the culmination of a series of lake spectacles. The first of these was given July 4. Venetian night, scheduled for eight o'clock the evening of August 9, is to be the grand climax of all of these events, and is to be the greatest of them all. The others were given really in preparation for the one greatest spectacle, and the preliminaries—if they may be called that—were themselves up to the standard of past years.

WINONA MISUNDERSTOOD.

Its Purpose Is Not to Make Money but to Elevate the Public.

Few communities are less understood than is Winona Lake, Ind., and the reason of this probably is that the individual visitor sees that part in which he is particularly interested, and fails to get the significance of the many other features of the place.

The whole purpose of Winona Lake is to benefit the public. This, it is purposed, is to be done along every line, physical, moral, mental, spiritual. And of the divisions of the one great purpose, the chief one is that of strengthening the Christian character of the men and women, boys and girls with whom Winona's influence comes in contact.

An idea seems prevalent that Winona Lake is a money-making institution, but this is an error, for Winona is supported largely by gifts. It gives to the public each year in lectures, entertainments, music and spectacles much more than the public gives it. The same entertainments that may be had at Winona for practically nothing would and do cost from $1 to $2 or $3 in the opera houses of the cities.

LEBRUN PARTY AT WINONA.

Famous Grand Opera Singers Will Appear on 1911 Program.

Grand opera singers, who are now doing chautauqua work, will be heard at Winona Lake this year, August 14. There are three members in the company which is known as the LeBrun Grand Opera Party. Mme. LeBrun is one of the world's greatest sopranos and heads the party. The other members are Fritz Huttman, tenor; Arthur Deane, baritone, and Laura Baer, contralto. The costumes that are worn by the four members represent an investment of $5,000, and a big part of this amount was paid for a single dress worn by Mme. LeBrun. The operas sung by this party at Winona Lake August 14 will be in English. This is one of the strongest organizations appearing on the Winona program this year.

Give Last Number.

The Gamble Concert Party will give the last number on the Winona Lake assembly program this year at 8 o'clock, the evening of August 13. This is considered one of the strong numbers of the season's program.

Is Tourist Point.

The Central Passenger association makes Winona Lake, Ind., a year-around tourist point. Special tickets are sold to Winona Lake for the season or for fifteen days.

President on Program.

Montaville Flowers, president of the International Lyceum association, is on the Winona Lake program this year, appearing the evening of August 16.

THE LASH OF CIRCUMSTANCE

By HARRY IRVING GREENE

Author of
"YOSON OF THE WILDERNESS"

Illustrations by Magnus G. Kettner

Alert of muscles, I stood nervously peering into the gulf below, with my ears set to catch the slightest sound. As to what LeDuc sought in the cave-like interior where he now rummaged I had not the vestige of a notion. He had not seen fit to enlighten me of his own volition, and I had not felt like going further in an attempt to raise the screen that he had drawn between us. So far as I could analyze his sayings, he had been weaving his net about Bruce; and should that prove to be the case, I knew that when the final denouement came, I should, no matter the evidence he might be able to produce, array myself with Clare in a desperate rally to the defense of the accused one. Together she and I would fight for him to the last.

Perched as I was 50 feet above the stones of an alley the bottom of which was shrouded in blackness impenetrable to the eye, and actively participating in a deed the significance of which I was in ignorance beyond the fact of being aware that despite its object its perpetration was a severe violation of the law, I began to grow both uneasy and angry as I awaited my partner's reappearance. To make my position still more unpleasant I knew that we must descend by the same means by which we had arisen; and no one perched aloft as I was could know into whose arms we might drop as we retreated down the ladder. How long LeDuc was gone I had but little idea because of the difficulty of judging the lapse of time when one is situated as I was. While it seemed a considerable period, it was possibly not more than four or five minutes before he reappeared. I hailed his coming with a breath of relief.

We went down in reverse order from which we had ascended, LeDuc below me now and my feet closely following his hands. So far as we were able to judge, no one had entered the alley since we had gone upward, and I felt much more at ease as upon the flagging once more I adjusted my disarranged clothes. As I did so I saw my companion stoop and apparently pick up something as we turned and hurried silently from the scene of our efforts. Once more upon the street, I ventured to ask what success he had met with. His reply was pregnant with satisfaction. "I think I have secured what I was looking for, but cannot be certain until tomorrow. I will let you know about it then."

"And have you it with you?" I persisted, thinking it high time he confessed a little more in me, in view of what I had done for him. He patted his pocket.

"Yes—right here. If upon an investigation made under the proper conditions by an expert it turns out as I think it will, I will name your man for you tomorrow. And when I do I am going to have you present as an interested party. By the way, here is your match box." He held out the mentioned receptacle to me and I took it with a look of surprise as I demanded that he tell me when and where he had gotten it. I was very certain that I had not handed it to him.

"Something dropped upon my shoulder as we were coming down the ladder and I picked this up at the foot of it when we struck earth again. It must have worked out of your pocket as we came down while you were using your arms for climbing. Great way to lose anything smooth like that, especially from a vest pocket. Well, I guess that is about all for tonight. If you will just excuse me for the rest of the night I would like to do a little more experimenting all by my own self. Much obliged for your assistance. If I land my party it will be because of the tips and clues you have furnished me, and I won't forget you." To tell the truth I was not at all sorry to have him make his request to be excused. I had had enough experience with him

NO REASON FOR IT

When Rushville Citizens Show the Way.

There can be no such reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of serious kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that these ills can be cured. Read what a Rushville citizen says:

Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 824 North Arthur street, Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family and we have found them to be a splendid remedy for kidney complaint. A member of our family suffered from attacks of backache for several years, the trouble being caused by disordered kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our attention and thinking they might prove of benefit, we procured a supply at F. B. Johnson & Co's Drug Store. The use of two boxes entirely relieved the backache and strengthened the kidneys. I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills at that time and I still take pleasure in saying a good word for them."

for one evening, and I bade him good night with a sense of relief at the next corner. He waved his hand and turned into the straggling line of passers-by.

Pondering deeply over the events of the night and with the idea suddenly popping into my head that I would do a little experimenting upon my own account, I continued upon my way for several blocks. An alley something similar to the one which the detective and I had explored lay before me, and I turned into it with the intention of traversing it and catching my street car homeward bound in the street beyond. Near the further end of the way I paused, struck a match against the wall and lighting a cigar, stood for a moment with the flame in my hands as I made the investigation that I had in mind. Then casting the blaze away I passed into the fan of light that was projected into the narrow way from the street just beyond. As I turned once more into the regular course of travel I almost ran into the arms of my friend whom I had left but a few moments previously. With a mutual start we stepped backward.

"I had not expected this pleasure again tonight," I said as I surveyed him up and down. He fingered his cigar apparently a trifle annoyed that I had intercepted him; nevertheless answering me with a grin.

"I just made the second experiment which I mentioned to you, and it turned out quite successfully. Our man is downtown tonight and is moving about considerably himself. I am just a little afraid that he is becoming uneasy, and I don't know as I can blame him under the circumstances. Still, should he confess his guilt by flight, the life of a hunted fox is the best he can look forward to, and I don't believe he is going to run. Hope I have not got you fascinated with the alley habit by our experience tonight." I surveyed him in distinct disapproval of his everlasting secrecy.

"No danger of its becoming chronic. Are you going to tell me anything yet?" I addressed him rather shortly, and as usual his head waved its negative.

"Not now. But I hope tomorrow I may be able to tell you everything that I know. Meanwhile you might bear in mind the old adage that when ignorance is bliss it is folly, and so forth." I turned abruptly away.

"Very well, I will exercise my patience. Good night again." Stepping into the street, I boarded a passing car and watched him from the back platform for a moment as he disappeared in an opposite direction. Then I found myself a seat.

I went directly home and to bed. Although somewhat tired, my experiences of the evening had rendered me thoroughly wide awake, and I slept very little in the hours that intervened between my retiring and daybreak. LeDuc had told me that he was positive that he knew his man; had assured me of his confidence that he had secured the necessary proof, and I had too much respect for his ability to hold him lightly. And while I believed that he had centered his efforts upon Bruce and had built a wall of circumstantial evidence around him, there was also the sickening possibility that he had learned things in other directions that were beyond my ken. However, I refused absolutely to allow such a possibility to occupy any real place in my mind. Still, there was a mystery about some of his actions that utterly baffled me and caused me profound wonder; while as to my own experiment of the evening it had failed absolutely. I went to sleep along in the gray of the morning no wiser than I had been when I had awakened from my last sleep.

CHAPTER XV.

The next morning I found a note awaiting me which had arrived over night in the mail. It was from Mrs. Dace and said that she would be very happy to have me accompany her on a little shopping tour that forenoon, provided I could arrange without inconvenience to be away from my place of business. I at once phoned her that I would go with her. I had never felt a greater aversion for my daily, half-mechanical work at the office than I did this bright morning, and the invitation to spend a day with the woman I loved so madly was an opportunity not to be ignored. Moreover, as my wealth had rapidly increased, the fact that I was still the daily employee of a soulless corporation at a nominal salary and must still give my attention to the petty details of journal and ledger had galled me until several times I had been upon the point of resigning. This I now decided to do at once, and sitting down at my secretary forthwith notified them to that effect by means of a letter, giving more important business as my reason and enclosing them a check for my overdrawn salary. This radical step having been taken, and with my bridges now being burned behind me, I experienced some of the joyous sensations of an onward marching invader of a new continent. With nothing to hamper me now except the keeping of an eye upon my investments, I could give myself over to the attractions that lay by the way without the ever-present and pleasure marring thought of early rising and ungenial work upon the morrow.

The automobile was at the entrance of the Arcadia; Mrs. Dace awaited me in her apartments, and together we descended and entered the machine. I gave it plenty of speed and we went whirling down the wide artery that led to the heart of the city. I told her of my resignation from drudgery, and after a moment's reflection she voiced her approval of it.

"The position was but a stepping stone, and it is hardly possible that it would have ever brought you more than a hard-earned living. And that is the very thing that I am anxious that you should escape. You are rapidly becoming a man of affairs and your future depends a great deal more on what you do with your head than with your hands."

It was a glorious thing to be humming along with her in that early forenoon hour, her commendation ringing in my ears and the sweetness of breezes blown across fresh waters exhilarating my physical senses. My enthusiasm leaped onward as lightly as a bounded rubber ball, and despite her injunction to the contrary, I determined to make a cast towards the subject of our marriage. But I would make it judiciously and if she cautioned me would immediately turn into some other channel. I let one hand fall upon her gloved fingers.

"If you were my wife, sweetheart, I would be the happiest man in the world today," I said, tenderly. "There is an old and wise adage which says we should live to our fullest today for tomorrow we die. And it sometimes seems to me that we are partially wasting the most precious days of our lives; camping, as it were, upon the border of the promised land and fearing to enter it. I already have enough money to last us for years, and surely with the start I now have the rest will not be long in coming. I want you to tell me: Is there any reason why you desire the postponement of our marriage except that I am in the midst of accumulating more resources?"

"None in the world. I am interested heart and soul in your success and shrink at the thought of diverting your efforts. For once married, I know that I should claim your time jealously."

"And you could marry me one time as well as another?"

"Tomorrow as well as any other day."

Within arm's length of the prize which I coveted more than all else in the world combined, the woman for whom I would have waived my claims upon immortality to have possessed at the point of yielding herself to my embrace, my tongue burst forth in an impassioned appeal. "Then come with me tomorrow, sweetheart—dearest! We will be quietly married and start at once for Europe. I can leave my interests in the hands of my broker, who will protect me fully. We will want for nothing. We will go to Paris, to Spain, to Algiers. We will cruise through the Mediterranean. We will summer in the Alps. We will winter on the Nile. The world shall be ours. The papers and cable will keep me in daily touch with affairs here. If all goes well for a few months, as it surely must, we will not need to return, but will go on and on as you wish. None will be as happy as we, and our lives will be one long honeymoon. Nothing shall be denied you. Come." Carried away as I was

"If You Were My Wife, Sweetheart, I Would Be the Happiest Man in the World Today." by the impetuosity of my passion, I firmly believed that I had forecasted our destiny as infallibly as fate itself as I turned my glance from the flying roadway to her face. She must have caught some of my enthusiasm, for her eyes were glowing and the fingers which I held entwined themselves amongst mine.

"It is what I have dreamed also. It is what my life must be, and of late I have grown to picture you in my mind as the one who is to share all those things with me. But it would be terrible to awake some morning in the midst of our happiness and find it ruined. Therefore I wish you to be fully insured before embarking—not that I would love you any the more if you had a million, but because the life you have just portrayed is what we both crave. And I believe that all you have said will come true. But while I might wish very much to marry you tomorrow, I think it is better to wait."

I slipped my free arm beneath hers and drew her to me. "Make it tomorrow, dearest," I pleaded, feeling that she swayed upon the brink of surrender and that could I have taken her in my arms she would have yielded completely. "When I think how happy we would be, it seems a shameful waste of time to deny ourselves." Her bosom was rising and falling rapidly and I knew that the battle within her was raging sharply. Her reply was both distressed and beseeching:

peal to those who are standing in the

FRAUD IS ALLEGED BY THE TEXAS DRYS

Austin, Tex., July 26.—The bare majority of 6,000 votes which the complete unofficial returns show the wets won the state-wide prohibition election, is to be attacked by a legislative investigation of alleged frauds of the present anti in a number of counties.
This much has been determined by the dry leaders. The whole matter of contesting the election as well as plans for the proposed legislative investigation will be gone over in a meeting of the prohibition organization to be held next Sunday. The prohibitors are in control of both houses by a big majority. The special session of the legislature will convene next Monday.

Wire Manufacturers Accept Fines for Alleged Pools.
New York, July 26.—Thirty-seven of the eighty-four wire manufacturers and their employees who were indicted June 29 on the charge of combining in nine pools to the restraint of trade in the wire business, entered pleas of nolo contendere before Judge Archbald in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court yesterday, and each was fined $1,000 on the initial count and $100 on every additional count in the indictment against him. The total amount of the fines imposed is $42,700, and of this sum $21,000 was paid to Commissioner Shields before he closed his office for the night.

Nebraska Republicans Indorse Taft.
Lincoln, Neb., July 26.—What promised to be a big fight between the progressive and the regular factions of the Republican party in Nebraska did not develop at the state convention. The regulars, or the Taft men, were in control of the convention by more than two to one.
Resolutions indorsing the administration of Mr. Taft were adopted without any opposition of insurgents, who were supposed to be lined up for La Follette.

DYNAMITE PLOT HINTED AT GARY

Destructive Explosion Not Due
to Gas.
QUESTION CONFRONTING POLICE

The Chief Victim of the Explosion Had Been the Victim of Annoyances Following Labor Troubles Last Winter, and the Police Are Working on the Theory That Recent Explosion Was Another Bomb Outrage.

Gary, Ind., July 26.—That the explosion which wrecked the two-story building at 622 Broadway and which caused the injury of eight persons and the shaking of the central part of the city, was not an accidental gas explosion, but the probable work of persons employing the use of dynamite, gasoline or nitroglycerine, is the latest theory of the police. All evidence brought to light so far indicates that if gas played any part in the explosion and fire that followed, that it was merely a secondary agency. Fire Chief J. D. Feeley scouts the gasoline theory, as no gasoline was kept in the building.
The proprietor of the restaurant on the first floor, George Weaver, one of the injured, who was sleeping on the floor above, and five others who were also injured, discredit the gas explosion theory. John W. Alley and William Carey, night chiefs on duty on the first floor, say they detected no gas odor.
The question now confronting the Gary police is whether the explosion is another bomb outrage, and who perpetrated it. Last winter following labor troubles unknown persons put sand in the food that Weaver served his patrons. In January the new Reynolds building at Fifth avenue and Harrison street was partly wrecked
by a bomb explosion, which occurred during the progress of the building strike.

A "STIFF-NECKED" PEOPLE

This Is Billy Sunday's Conclusion Regarding Indianapolis Folk.
Winona Lake, Ind., July 26.—Billy Sunday, the baseball evangelist, who is conducting a series of meetings
here, has made a careful calculation
as to the "saving" of souls in large cities, and he rates Indianapolis as the highest of any city in the country. It costs $620 to save one soul in Indianapolis, he said. In New York city the cost is $545; in Boston, $450; in Denver, $425; in Chicago, $395; in New Orleans, $375; in Atlanta, $375.
These figures, he explained, were made by taking the amount given for the maintenance of churches and the number of accessions to the churches and making a simple division.

A COSTLY BLAZE

Fire Loss at Seymour Will Figure Above $100,000.
Seymour, Ind., July 26.—Fire loss in the business district here amounted to $100,000. The Union Hardware company, Hoffman's Dry Goods store,
Spreen's Racket store, Hauenschild & Shutte's cigar store, Seymour Produce company and Hopewell's livery stable were burned out completely. Heavy losses were sustained by John Dehler, clothing and shoe merchant; William Stratton, jeweler, and the Nodapp Hornum company. Insurance carried will not half meet losses. The origin of the fire is unknown. It is the most destructive fire this city ever had.

Roads Will Present Their Case.

Indianapolis, July 26.—The Indiana railroad commission has notified all roads operating in this state that they shall not be permitted to withdraw the bulletins issued two months ago
increasing the minimum freight rates 25 cents to 30 cents. The proposed increase will be held up until the commission can investigate. A meeting has been called for July 31, at which representatives of the roads will present their case.

Boys Suffocated in Cave-in.

Morocco, Ind., July 26.—Harry Cole, aged nine, son of Mrs. Anna Cole, a widow, living north of this city, and a boy of about the same age, named Shuttles, of Danville, Ill., were found dead in a cave near the Cole home, having been smothered by earth. The discovery was made by a little daughter of Mrs. Cole, who, on going to the cave, noticed the boys' feet protruding from the sand.

Baby Mutilated by Dog.

Winchester, Ind., July 26.—A dog, when snapping for a piece of bread in the hands of John, the two-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. Winchester, bit off the end of the babe's nose.

Defective Flue Blamed.

Columbus, Ind., July 26.—The Hope creamery was destroyed by fire. A defective flue is blamed. The loss is about $600. The plant will be rebuilt of larger capacity.

The Deadly Live Wire.

Goshen, Ind., July 26.—Chester Bac-ley, aged twenty-four, was killed while painting the power house roof here.
He hung his bucket on a live wire.

BARREL BOAT GOES OVER FALLS SAFELY

Daring Occupant Came Out With Broken Leg.
Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 26.—Bobby Leach is the second person to go over the Horse Shoe Falls of Niagara and live to tell the story. He made the trip yesterday afternoon while a large number of people watched the spectacle from both sides of the river. A launch towed Leach's barrel-boat of steel far downstream, until the danger point had been reached. Then the barrel was closed, and Leach was set adrift. He was still a long distance from the upper rapids, and sluggishly the currents drew him on. Lazily he swept on quite helpless to hasten the result.
Into the upper rapids and over the reefs the strange craft went, and then Leach knew he was speeding toward the dropping off place. An eddy current drew him to shore, but the currents that hurry toward the fall were stronger, and on them Leach continued the journey. From this point it was quick work.
Faster and faster, the waters carried him and then at a point four hundred feet from the Canadian shore, they dropped out from under him and let him drop into the waters at the foot of the waterfall. The barrel went out of sight. A moan went up from the watching humanity, as thousands of eyes watched for the reappearance of the barrel speck on the waters that rush out from the downpour. Seconds seemed hours, but the barrel came in sight again quickly, and then the gorge currents picked it up and swept it well toward the Canadian side.
There friends were waiting, and as the barrel swung into an eddy, Frank Bender of Chippawa, Ont., plunged into the river and swam out for it.
He caught it and pushed it toward shore, where others helped take Leach
from the barrel. He was conscious, but as he was taken out it was evident his left leg was broken, and he was in a badly shaken up condition. His realization of having made the trip successfully was not sufficient, despite the stimulant taken to enable him to wade to those on the cliff tops, and he was taken on a stretcher and taken up the bank. About all he was able to say, was that he was glad he had made the trip in safety.
The only other person to go over the falls and live is Mrs. Anne Edison Taylor. She made the trip Oct. 24, 1901, in a barrel made of oak. Mrs.
Taylor was not even bruised in her trip.

WITHOUT FRANCHISE

Mt. Vernon Council Tells Telephone Company What's What.
Mt. Vernon, Ind., July 26.—The city council refused, by unanimous vote,
to reconsider its offer to the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company of a franchise providing for dwelling phones at $1.25 on party lines and business lines at $2.50.
Superintendent Hall of the Louisville office of the telephone company appeared before the council, saying the plant here could not operate at a profit at less than $1.40 for residence party lines and $2.75 for straight business lines. The council's vote not to consider the rate question leaves the company operating here without a franchise. The councilmen say the company will accept the terms of offer or leave the field.

and relatives arriving on the L. & N.

ons, waiting for relatives, was ground to pieces by an out-going train. Lemons stepped out of the way of one proaching.

MUSIC TEACHERS TO HAVE LICENSE

State Superintendent Writes Local Official That Law Requires Examination for Special Instructors.

NONE NEEDED HERETOFORE

Special List of Questions Will be Furnished For Test—Arrangements For Exams.

C. M. George, superintendent of the county schools, has received the following letter from Charles A.
Greathouse, State superintendent of public instruction:

"The last legislature passed a law requiring that music teachers and all other special teachers must have a license in order to teach in the public schools of the State. See S. B. No.
349, page 134, Acts 1911.

"The special school fund is not created for the purpose of paying teachers. The purpose for which that fund is created is clearly specified in the law. However, it may be used to pay teachers whenever the tuition fund is exhausted.

"If a grade teacher teaches music,
he should pass in music along with the other common branches on the common school list. Music supervisors must pass the examination
prepared for supervision of music.
A special list of supervisors questions will be furnished you both July and August."

Anyone contemplating teaching music or drawing in the Rush county schools should see Supt. George at once, as there are several other things governing this examination.

BLACKBERRIES PASSING

Crop Unusually Large This Year and Tons of Jelly Result.

The passing away of the present
blackberry season is a source of sorrow to many good housewives in this county, although they have done a great amount of extra work because of it. But they say that the crop of the delicate fruit this year was unsurpassed in abundance, and the quality of the berries was excellent.
There is now, according to a woman who keeps carefully informed on such matters, a greater quantity of blackberry jam and jelly stored away in cupboards in Rush county than ever before. Women, who, during the season, have put up forty, fifty, or even seventy-five cans of these products are not very rare.

PICNICED IN BASEMENT

Ball Game is Missed at Annual M. E.
Sunday School Event.

The annual picnic of the St. Paul
M. E. church was spoiled this year by the bad weather, but the members of the Sunday school enjoyed the day hugely indoors, anyway. It was planned to hold the annual event in the city park yesterday afternoon,
but it was found necessary to repair to the basement of the church.
The picnic was very enjoyable but the usual ball game in which Will Sparks serves up his benders and Billy King holds down the first sack, was missing. That part of the program was postponed because it was feared some of the swatters would knock a home run through the basement window. And the usual horseshoe pitching contest could not be indulged in.

NEWKIRK WILL PROBATED KEEP WEDDING A SECRET

Mrs. Rebecca Newkirk, Widow, Qualifies as Executrix Today.

The will of William R. Newkirk, who died recently, was admitted to probate in the clerk of the circuit court's office today. Mrs. Rebecca Newkirk, the widow of the deceased, is named as executrix and qualified today. The document provides that Mrs. Will Winship shall be given 40 acres of land to even her share with that of the other two children who have been advanced sums of money.
The remaining 120 acres is divided equally among the three children,
subject to the life estate of the widow. She is also given $500 and the household goods.
